As families prepare for holiday gatherings, health care providers are reminding pregnant women and new patients about the risks winter viruses can pose. WEEK