Color-coding and color differentiation have been used in healthcare to facilitate the identification of healthcare personnel and support patient safety. Patient Safety