Beyond the Hospital Walls: Building Trust and Transforming Communities

Andrew McCrea, Keynote Speaker and Oscar-Winning Broadcaster

Through strategic partnerships, innovative programs and community outreach, hospitals across rural Illinois are working to improve their community's health and well-being. At the same time, public trust in institutions has fallen. Just over a third of Americans say they have a great deal or quite a lot of trust in the medical system. How can your organization strengthen confidence in healthcare while deepening connections within the community? This keynote address will challenge you to rethink how your hospital engages with the people it serves—through authentic storytelling, trust-building and strategic initiatives that go beyond patient care.

Panel Discussion: Innovative Strategies to Address Community Behavioral Health Needs

The rise in patients seeking mental health services has created new challenges for hospitals. To help meet your community's behavioral health care needs, a panel of hospital leaders will identify creative solutions to expand access, strengthen services and support individuals. They'll share best practices and strategies that have made a meaningful impact in their organizations—and are tailored to the realities of rural healthcare delivery.

Hot Topics in Rural Hospital Regulations and Reimbursement

Martie Ross, JD, Consulting Principal, PYA and Director, PYA Center for Rural Health Advancement

Federal regulations and reimbursement policies are shifting rapidly, creating both challenges and opportunities for rural hospitals. Keeping pace with these changes is critical to your hospital's financial stability and long-term success. This session, led by a seasoned regulatory expert, will break down the latest federal policy changes impacting small and rural hospitals. You'll hear about Medicare payment updates, new compliance requirements and shifts in reimbursement methodologies. With a look at opportunities ahead—including potential shifts under the new administration—you'll gain actionable insights and practical strategies to help navigate the road ahead.

Uncovering How Medicare Advantage Plans Are Not Paying You – Finding Solutions

Richelle Marting, JD, MHSA, RHIA, CPC, CEMC, CPMA, CPC-I, Attorney, Marting Law, LLC

Rural hospitals experienced a more than 100% increase in inpatient days covered by Medicare Advantage (MA) between 2018 and 2023. With continued growth in MA plans expected in rural areas—and reimbursement below traditional Medicare—this session will uncover tactics that MA plans may use to disguise underpayments and nonpayment of claims. You'll also come away with strategies to identify if those tactics are occurring at your facility, as well as practical steps to rectify MA reimbursement issues.
